FOUR SUMMER SCHOOL PROGRAMS SCHEDULED

GRADUATE COURSES TO BE OFFERED IN SEVERAL AREAS

Taylor is launching a strong summer academic schedule with four distinct programs plus other specialized features, according to Dr. Gordon Zimmerman, Dean of the University.

An undergraduate program of twenty-seven courses in a variety of fields is being offered from June 10th to July 12th. The comprehensive list of studies is designed for college students, adults seeking cultural enrichment, and business and industrial personnel in the area. Courses will be given from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., Monday-Friday.

In conjunction with Ball State University, Taylor will offer graduate level courses from among the following departments: English, Business and Economics, Education, Sociology, Physics, Music and Physical Education. This will enable alumni and others to begin their masters degree work at Taylor.

Graduate credit will be on Ball State transcripts and will be transferable to other graduate schools. The courses will be conducted by Taylor professors. Final plans for this program were being formulated as the Profile went to press.

A Credits-in-Escrow program is being instituted as part of the summer program. It will be geared to outstanding high school students who

GIVING RECORD SET BY ALUMNI

December was among the finest months in the history of Taylor University from the contribution standpoint, both in terms of the Alumni Fund and over-all giving.

Although alumni giving had been about 24% below last year through November, a record in alumni contributions of $28,174 for December alone brought the total of alumni giving for the calendar year, 1967, to a new record high of $104,070 compared with $100,640 for 1966.

Total giving to the college from all sources during the last two weeks of December and the first week of January alone was $56,936. Total giving from July 1, 1967-January 31, 1968 — the first seven months of the current fiscal year—reached $167,374. This kind of support greatly encourages the College in its current three-year development program for a chapel-auditorium, library, and student union, and the advancement of the academic life of the University.

College Personnel Changes Announced

Three personnel changes involving the Development, Admissions, and Student Affairs Departments went into effect February 1.

Ernest Valutis, who has been Director of Admissions for the past two and one-half years, transferred to the Development Department as an assistant in the development program.

Ron Keller, Associate Director of Student Affairs, succeeded Valutis as Director of Admissions. In this position he is working in an area of his previous experience before joining the Student Affairs staff in 1965.

The newly-appointed Associate Director of Student Affairs is Charles Griffin, who has been head resident in Wengatz Hall the past two years.

"We feel that these new appointments offer wide opportunities for even greater service to the Taylor program on the part of each of these men in our efforts to advance the total program of the university," President Rediger commented.

of the University, Dr. Fox is currently serving as Chairman of the Chapel-Auditorium Committee.

Dr. Patterson, also a former Taylor Trustee and President of the Dodge Division of Chrysler Corporation, is now Mayor of Grosse Pointe Park, Michigan. He has given leadership to various areas of evangelical work in the local church and Christian higher education.

SUMMER PROGRAM

have completed their junior year. This program will expand the educational horizons of participants, will provide an early introduction to college life, and will offer opportunity to associate with Taylor students in the classroom and in campus activities. Participants will choose courses totalling up to a maximum credit of six hours from among an offering sufficiently diversified to meet varied interests. College credit will be given after graduation from high school for courses successfully completed. This credit will count toward graduation at Taylor and will appear on all transcripts for purposes of transfer to another college. Total cost to "escrow" students will be $318.50 for tuition, room and board.

The summer school will also include a College Orientation and Preparatory Experience (COPE) program. COPE, which will be open to high school graduates who have been fully accepted for admission to Taylor for next Fall, is especially designed for those who rank in the lower portion of those accepted in the freshman class.

This program will help these students become oriented to college life and better equipped for their undergraduate work by taking courses in Freshman Orientation, English Composition, Physical Education and Reading Improvement; plus co-curricular campus activities.

By receiving six hours of undergraduate credit, students will be able to take a reduced load during the first several critical terms. Total cost of this program is also $318.50.

An additional offering now being planned includes an intensive one-week basketball clinic for which one hour of credit will be given. Directing this phase will be coaches Don Odle of Taylor and Marion Crawley, of Lafayette, who are also the directors of the Junior Basketball Camp held each summer.

A one-week workshop in Christian Education to be held starting July 21, under the direction of Gospel Light Publications, is also in the planning stage. Classes will be conducted by the GLP staff and Taylor professors.

Undergraduate courses and the Junior Science Camp will continue this summer at the Biology Field Station in Michigan.

Persons interested in further information about any of the programs may contact Mr. Ron Keller, Director of Admissions.

BASKETBALL SQUAD HOLDS 11-8 MARK

The Taylor basketball Trojans, after earning an 8-0 record early in the season, ran into some formidable opposition which has changed the complexion of their record to 11 wins and 8 losses as of January 30.

Even without the services of superstar sophomore, Larry Holloway, who is out for the season with knee trouble, the Odlemen gained impressive wins over several strong teams in pre-holiday play. Then the Trojans took a trip. On their way to the West coast they stopped off at Wheaton College for an unsuccessful encounter, followed by three losses in four games in California.

The travel-weary five then lost three successive conference games in January before returning to the win column against Anderson. However, the Trojans could finish impressively, with junior Chuck Taylor, one of the top scorers in the state, hitting at a 28-point clip, and the addition of a strong, high scoring center and transfer student, Bill DeHorn, who tallied 36 points against Earlham.

University Business Office Reorganizes

As a result of expanded operations and as a means of providing for more effective financial administration, the Business Office has been reorganized. This change, which became effective January 1st, eliminates the present integrated business office structure and establishes organizations for operational and fiscal functions.

William Davis has been appointed Chief Financial Officer of the University. In this new capacity he is responsible for budgeting, accounting, cash control, internal auditing and financial reporting. By virtue of his position he is now a member of the Administrative Council of the University. Mr. Davis joined the staff in 1966 as Chief Accountant.

Paul D. Keller, who served as Business Manager for the past sixteen years, now heads the operational function. He is responsible for purchasing, operation and maintenance of plant, operation of auxiliary enterprises, use and control of supplies and equipment, and some non-academic personnel affairs. Mr. Keller came to Taylor in 1944 as a member of the music faculty and was named Business Manager in 1951. A different title will suggest the directorship of plant operations and auxiliary services. It is expected that the reorganization will be completed by March 15.

A LIFE INCOME

That Cannot Shrink

ANNUITY AGREEMENTS, with payments made semi-annually (or annually if preferred), provide a lifetime return that cannot shrink.

Through these agreements you may, in a sense, be the executor of your own will.

Through these agreements you can give generously without hardship; you can receive an income during your lifetime on your gift.

These agreements are safe and sound, based not simply upon sentiment and good intentions, but upon the financial resources and business management of an established, trustworthy university.

The value of these agreements does not fluctuate. The income from them does not shrink. The rate agreed upon never changes.

Through these agreements you obtain certain relief on your income taxes which will be described upon request. The amount of relief depends upon the age of the donor.

Through your annuity agreement you can have a share in the vital ministry of training young people for full time Christian service and for many other vocations as Christian leaders.

This is investment with a purpose.

You are invited to contact Robert L. Warren, Assistant to the President, for further information.
